ALLAH LIVES!

Allah, The Father Still Lives Through Us.

The work of Allah, The Father did not end when he physically departed, his presence remains alive in the actions of the true and living Gods and Earths who uphold and apply his teachings daily. He planted the seeds of knowledge, wisdom, and understanding, and today, we continue to cultivate and bear fruit for the betterment of our communities and the Nation as he instructed.

Allah, The Father emphasized the importance of education, telling us plainly: "Go to school and get an education." This wasn't just about earning degrees, it was about equipping ourselves with the tools necessary to rebuild and strengthen our communities. Knowledge is power, and without it, we cannot control our own destiny. When we arm ourselves with education, we elevate not only ourselves but also those around us.

Dumar Wa'de Allah further reinforced this duty when he said: "If a child is a D student, we are supposed to make them an A student." This speaks to our responsibility to uplift and refine those who struggle, ensuring that no one in our community or Nation is left behind. True and living Gods and Earths don't just claim knowledge; they apply it, teach it, and use it as a foundation for real change.

Look around, and you will see the proof that Allah, The Father, is still amongst us. You see it in those who dedicate themselves to teaching the youth, organizing community outreach programs, and ensuring that righteousness remains at the center of everything we do. You see it in the ones who uphold listening, looking, learning, and respecting with clarity and purpose. Every step taken to uplift the Nation, every lesson taught to the next generation, is evidence that his legacy is not only alive but thriving.

We are the reflection of the Father's teachings. As long as we continue to build, teach, and elevate, he lives on through us. The work is not done because there is still knowledge to be given, minds to be sharpened, and communities to be strengthened. Let us remain steadfast in this mission, ensuring that our Nation continues to grow in knowledge, strength, and unity.

Allah lives through the righteous work we do, so let's make sure we honor his legacy each every day in each every way. Peace!

"Allah had told them, if they ever needed him all they had to do was come together."

Allah lives through U and "I" and as long as the supreme math and alphabets are being utilized daily it will continue to manifest on an everlasting scale. I like to live my life and express my energy from the aspect of the great things Allah has accomplished, even after his transition showing and proving Allah still continues to live and touch and change lives with his knowledge and wisdom long after his physical existence.

Once you embrace our culture you should strive daily to leave the same impact on others by moving accordingly within our way of life. Starting with you being the example that others should follow, it takes a lot of energy to get people to move on one accord now. So to do that even after you are not amongst us, speaking and breathing takes a high degree of knowledge, wisdom, and understanding. Only a few have done so because it's not a simple task. We are proof that Allah lives. Peace to the true and living and the ones that come after knowledge is Born.

Bilal Sincere God Allah

Peace! Many give understanding to what Allah meant when he said "Words are wonderful, but deeds are divine"? It is here where we as the Nation Allah put his being into, is supposed to be manifesting, not in wisdomatic ways, but in tangible ways. We say Allah Lives, but does your daily existence allow others to experience him through the five senses? To truly show and prove that Allah lives, we must be doing what he did daily and not simply saying what he said. He built a Nation from the ground up. What are we doing to add to what he built in tangible ways? How many lawyers do we have in the Nation, and who are representing the interests of the Nation? How many nurses do we have in the Nation who provide healthcare to the Nation? How many publishers do we have in the Nation who have given Nation citizens a platform to print their written works? How many politicians do we have in the Nation who represent the interests of the Nation in Congress, the U.N., and the State legislative bodies? How many entertainers do we have in the Nation who include the Nation in their success or even thank the Nation when they receive accolades for their success?

I can go on and on, but the point I am making is that "Words are wonderful, but deeds are divine." Allah Lives because we keep his legacy alive by continuing the work which he started. Word is bond, and bond means life because it is with our very life existence through which we must show and prove Allah and his legacy in a tangible way. If we fail to do so, we forfeit our life in Allah and his legacy. Words are nothing but spit and sound. Action is where life is found. Allah The Father said many things, but what he did is where you will find your path to becoming A-Alike Allah and his righteous way. Allah Lives because we live like unto him. Peace!

Understanding Self Allah

Peace to my Universal Family who are the True and Living Gods and Earths of A.W.M. On this month of February adherents from around the globe commemorate Father Allah's physical Day also known as Father's Day. A few examples of how we can continue to carry his legacy are first and foremost by being the person that you appear to be! Daily destroying any unconstructive thoughts, behavior, or vices. Simply put we cannot consciously choose to continue practicing mentacidal behavior which diametrically opposes who we say we are and further empowers our oppressors. This is essential to being True and Living which requires daily refinement and self-examination to ensure you're measuring up (RULE/RULER) to the standard and worthy to inherit the throne! You cannot properly grow what you do not measure!

Secondly, using the knowledge obtained by virtue of the teachings to independently Nation build. Creating programs and building the essential institutions (FAMILY- SCHOOLS- BANKS-GROCERY STORES- HOSPITALS) to progressively move forward so that we can determine our own destiny as a people. These are only a few examples of Living the Culture of A.W.M and continuing the legacy of Father Allah while simultaneously creating our own! ALLAH LIVES, ALLAH HAS SPOKEN!

Understanding God Allah

Peace! To continue Allah the Father's legacy from 1964 to 1969, we must recognize that his work was just the beginning and build upon it. Instead of getting caught up in past statements, we should embrace truth and insight. The Truth remains clear and unbiased; we should let go of preconceived notions to see things as they are. By guiding ourselves with Supreme Mathematics, we can advance efficiently and empower our Nation.

As time progresses, our understanding must evolve. We must adopt the principles of being Practical, Productive, and Progressive to meet contemporary needs. Being practical means making decisions that benefit our communities; being productive is about using knowledge to create tangible results; and being progressive helps us move beyond past limitations.

To achieve true unity, we must eliminate division and work toward common goals for the benefit of all. Let's focus on collaborating to strengthen our Nation and carry on Allah the Father's legacy in a meaningful and loyal way.

DID YOU KNOW?

- In 1822, the South Carolina (S.C.) state legislature passed "An Act to Establish a Competent Force as a Municipal Guard for the Protection of the City of Charleston and Vicinity". This Municipal Guard was the original Citadel, which was founded after the discovery of a planned rebellion by Denmark Vesey to prevent any such future rebellions.
- The Guard was paid for by imposing a $2.00 head tax to be paid by all free blacks between the age of 16 and 50. If the tax was not paid, they could be sold into servitude for a period of time to earn the money.
- Denmark Vesey was betrayed by two house slaves. In the aftermath of the failed rebellion, the state legislature passed laws giving generous rewards to informants who reported on any planned future revolts.
- A Snitch In Time: An Historical Sketch of Black Informing During Slavery by Andrea L. Dennis, Marquette Law Review, Winter ,2013.
- A statue of Denmark Vesey stands in Charleston, S.C. at Hampton Park.

- The site now located at what is today 6 Chalmers Street, in Charleston, SC is the location of an assemblage of buildings and pens once known as Ryan's Mart or Ryan's nigger jail. Named after Thomas Ryan, who along with Ziba Burrill Oakes built in 1859 as a slave auction gallery. Today it is the Old Slave Mart Museum.

Understanding's Legal Corner

The 14th Amendment to the United States Constitution was ratified in 1868 to grant freed slaves the right and privilege of citizenship in America. Before this, Black people were classified as non-citizens. The US Supreme Court, in the Dred Scott case, stated that slaves and their descendants had been regarded as inferior for over a century. Consequently, they had no rights that the white man was obliged to respect, and therefore they were not deemed citizens. To rectify this, the Constitutional Convention introduced the ratification of the 14th Amendment. This is how and why Black individuals born in America are considered citizens today.

Moreover, this right was extended to all individuals born in the US and its territories, including military bases worldwide. However, there is currently a push by the present US administration to rewrite the 14th Amendment to deny birthright citizenship to certain immigrant groups, specifically Hispanic children born in the US. The administration argues that these so-called immigrants do not meet the criteria of being "subject to the jurisdiction" of the US. This reasoning is questionable, as it seems to manipulate language through semantics.

If we apply the same justification to Black people, whose ancestors were freed slaves in America, we reach a troubling conclusion. To be "subject to the jurisdiction" of the US and its territories means one enjoys all the rights and privileges of US citizenship. According to Black's Law Dictionary, the term "subject" is synonymous with "citizen." Were the Africans who were kidnapped and brought to America as slaves considered citizens? Did they enjoy the rights and privileges outlined in the Declaration of Independence and guaranteed by the US Constitution? No, they did not. Therefore, as their descendants, we could also be placed in the same category as the children of Hispanic immigrants, classified as non-citizens.

It is crucial to understand that there is an ongoing effort to strip rights from those born in the US. Who can say that one day, this could also apply to Black people who gained citizenship through the 14th Amendment, as we too are born of individuals who were not citizens or subjects of the US?
